HANCOCK BANK CHRISTMAS SAVINGS OVER HALF MILLION

Checks totaling over $530,000 were put in the mails November 27 to more than 6,000 Christmas Club members of Hancock Bank's 1963 Christmas Savings Club.

Leo W. Seal Jr., president of Hancock Bank, said this represents an increase of approximately $28,000 over last year's record savings in the program which exceeded one-half million dollars. He also said the number of participants increased from 5,705 to 6,265 club members.

Hancock Bank has been promoting Christmas savings since 1950 with an increase in participation every year. Seal said the bank was an early pioneer in promoting the concept of the Christmas Savings Clubs. In 1914 the program was undertaken by the bank, continuing annually with the exception of World War I years when the savings were converted for the purchase of Liberty Bonds.

He announced that the 1964 Christmas Club will begin Friday, November 29, at Hancock Bank in Bay St. Louis, Gulfport, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Mississippi City, Gainesville, MTG, and on Pass Road in Gulfport.

While Christmas savings funds are used for Christmas purchases as well as to pay taxes, year-end bills, insurance premiums or to start a new savings account, he said, in the past five years $2,500,000 has been paid out by the bank in time for Christmas.

When Christmas shoppers buy at home, Seal said, this money adds greatly to the economy of every Mississippi Gulf Coast community.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.

A delegation of Mississippi Mayor, accompanied by Sen. John Stennis, stood beneath an awesome gantry holding a Saturn I missile which will soon make the nation's next deep space probe. The site where they stood was the same spot where President Kennedy had stood just a few days before in his personal inspection of the Saturn launch complex.

This Saturn I launch vehicle is just a "baby" compared with the nation's hopes ride for reaching the moon by 1970, the national goal set by the late President.

TO BE BUILT IN N. O. The booster stages for the Saturn 5 will be manufactured at New Orleans' Michoud plant and static tested at the Hancock-Pearl River County Mississippi Test Facility of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Mississippi group viewed the Saturn I version in place at Complex 34, with its huge steel gantry, as high as a 30-story building, dominating the surrounding area of the NASA launch operations center, which is part of the missile test annex of the Air Force missile test center here. This particular vehicle, to be fired next month, will be the first Saturn I which will have a live second stage, as further development in the path to a lunar landing. The initial Saturn I booster with inert upper stages was launched on a perfect flight over the Atlantic missile range Oct. 27, 1961.

SLATED IN LATE 1965

The first launching of the Saturn 5 is scheduled for sometime in late 1965. The bigger Saturn rocket will be fired from a new launch facility, Complex 37, to be constructed in a new 38,000 acre Merritt Island launch area adjacent to Cape Canaveral. Sen. Stennis and the Mississippi group, headed by Mayor John Scafide, Bay St. Louis, president of the Mississippi Municipal Association, visited the test center in a two-phase briefing by the Air Force Systems Command which manages and controls the installations for the Department of Defense and as support for the NASA projects in the space program.

The AFSC, which now spends 40 per cent of the entire Air Force budget is responsible for development of aerospace military weapons systems, a gigantic new phase of aerospace which this nation faces for the future.

Not far from Complex 34, the Mississippi group, headed by Mayor Scafide, Bay St. Louis, president of the Mississippi Municipal Association, visited the test center in a two-phase briefing by the Air Force Systems Command which manages and controls the installations for the Department of Defense and as support for the NASA projects in the space program.

Mr. Scafide, who will be in on the firing of the Atlas as part of the advanced ballistic re-entry program.

Toups figuratively will be one corner of a "double play" team on the shoot with his twin brother, First Lt. Roland Toups, who is project officer on the General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, the Air Force instrumentation ship which will gather re-entry data from the upcoming Atlas shoot.

POWER OF ENGINE This Atlas "F", a slightly advanced vehicle from the one which put astronaut Scott Carpenter into his 22-orbit mission, will develop 390,000 pounds of thrust in its journey down the 5,000 mile Atlantic missile range.

The thrust of the Atlas compares with 1,600,000 pounds of thrust in the Saturn I, and 7,500,000 pounds of thrust in the upcoming Saturn 5.

The group was told here that $16,250,000 a month is being spent for operations of the Air Force missile test center.

At Andrews Air Force base in Washington, the delegation was given a briefing by Lt. Gen. Howell M. Estes Jr., vice commander of the Air Force Systems Command, and Lt. Col. Sherman L. Hishop of the space systems division in California.

Hishop said the nation's space program is still in a "baby stage" of development. He said he said, $1,000 to put one pound in orbit.

MERCHANTS BANK CHRISTMAS SAVINGS TOTAL $30,574.85

The Merchants Bank and Company reported that checks in the amount of $30,574.85 were deposited in the bank's Christmas Savings Club on November 27, 1963.

OUR COUNTRY IN MOURNING

Our Country this past week went through one of the darkest and saddest periods in its entire history, due to the death of our beloved president, who was felled by a cowardly assassin's bullets on last Friday.

All of this and more began in Dallas, Texas, on Friday while the president was waving gaily to crowds while on his way to a banquet, where hundreds awaited his arrival, unaware, at the time, of the tragic turn of events, which took the life of our beloved leader, seriously wounded, Gov. Connally of Texas, and endangered the lives of countless others.

In speaking of the late president John Fitzgerald Kennedy, what more could we possibly add to the millions of words that have already been written and spoken, telling of his life, his past deeds, his ambitions for the future, his accused assassin, and his untimely end. There is really nothing we could say that could further his dynamic spirit, his driving force, even in the face of opposition, his untiring efforts for the benefit of his country and his fellowmen.

President Kennedy was a man among men, his driving force to further his ambitions, his effervescent personality, his ready wit and humor, were traits that stood out like a beacon in the darkness.

BUT - a cowardly assassin's bullets brought instant death to this leader of our country and profound sorrow to a stunned and unbelieving nation in Dallas, on Friday. In the quiet of Arlington Cemetery, on a shaded hillside, in Washington, this great man has found the everlasting peace, for which he had so bravely striven during his comparatively short, but most active life. He leaves behind him a heritage which the American people will fight for, if need be, to preserve.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy was not only a great statesman, a leader among men, a well-loved personality, he was also a family man, like the rest of us. He leaves behind, to mourn him, a wonderful wife and two young children, a son, three years old and a daughter, six, together with his parents, brothers and sisters.

The late John Fitzgerald Kennedy was a lover of sports and was keenly interested in the youth of America, as evidenced in his physical fitness program which he inaugurated earlier in his term of office, and which is in force now throughout the country, in schools and various athletic clubs.

He had an infectious and engaging personality, and his ability to make friends, regardless of class or distinction, was outstanding. This was evidenced by the vast number of national and international dignitaries, who journeyed to Washington, from all corners of the earth, to pay tribute and honor to this great man and fallen hero, which he truly was, having died in the service of his country he loved and cherished.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy may be gone from this earth, but you can rest assured, he will never be forgotten, because he has done so much in his short term of office that will be remembered for time immemorial.

His successor, the now President Lyndon B. Johnson, we feel sure, will follow in his footsteps, and will do everything possible to carry on the program set forth by the fallen leader.

In the true American spirit, we, as loyal supporters of American democracy, should rally behind the new president and assist him in every way to uphold America's leadership in world affairs.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

An easy way to avoid the problem of whether to wash or dry-clean a garment is a simple one: buy a 10-cent notebook and keep it all how-to-clean tags and descriptions of the articles. And keep the notebook handy as a washday reference.

A quickie menu idea is Potato Hashbrown. Split frankfurters lengthwise and heap with seasoned meat, potatoes, and heat in oven until the cheese melts. Serve immediately.

DECEMBER PLentiful FOODS With Thanksgiving almost a day in the past for 1963, we begin looking at the month and holidays ahead in December. And along with holidays come thoughts of food.

As you make your menu plans, remember the U. S. D. A. has a booklet that says you will find that you can get the most out of your food by following the U. S. D. A. food guide and general principles.

THE DAY A GARMENT is washed or dry-cleaned, also the day it is worn, also the day it is stored.

it a real, living test by walking sitting, stretching and bending in it. In this way only can you determine if there is enough fabric ease in bust, waist, hips and shoulders for body movement and if the garment stays in place on your figure in movement. It won't be comfortable if the waist rides up when you raise your arms, you can be sure.

Try clothes on over the type of foundation garment you ordinarily wear.

As you look in the mirror, carefully check several points in relation to fit. Is the lengthwise grain perpendicular to the floor. And the crosswise grain parallel to the floor. True grain means right fit. The grain line may vary in gored or circular skirt or a "cino" or raglan sleeve.

Back fullness and abdominal fullness both distort grain and seam placement. More ease is required to bring skirt in balance on the figure. Too little ease causes a tight, strained appearance and excessive wrinkling.

Too much back waistline length may cause wrinkling down back line or at lower back. Grain line will drop if extra length is at the top of the blouse back.

Too little ease across shoulders also may cause wrinkling across top of blouse back.

MAY SIDETRACK BILLS

WASHINGTON - Tax reduction and civil rights, President Kennedy's top legislative proposals, appeared likely to be temporarily sidetracked by a drive to adjourn Congress and give President Johnson a breathing spell.

The push for early adjournment was led by House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and had substantial backing from members of both parties who believe Congress should adjourn and engage in no more bickering this year. The two pending proposals are the most controversial in Congress.

Halleck's adjournment target is Dec. 14. Democratic leaders have called for continuation of the session until Jan. 3, with a Christmas recess of two weeks Jan. 3, is the date for opening of the next session of the present Congress.

"We should expedite what we have to do and adjourn," Halleck said in an interview. "Let's give the new President time to get his feet on the ground."

The vehicle for Halleck's adjournment drive is a resolution to provide temporary financing for federal agencies whose appropriations for the present fiscal year have not been made. It is the fourth such resolution since the fiscal year started on July 1, and comes before the House Tuesday.

The new measure would provide funds for the month of December. Halleck will attempt to change the date probably to next Jan. 31 on the assumption that Congress could dispose of other necessary measures between now and Dec. 14.

Democratic leaders already have all but officially given up hope of action this year on civil rights and tax legislation but feel that Congress should remain in session as long as there is any chance for action.

Thanksgiving

Aboard their small sailing vessel anchored off the New England Coast November 11, 1620, forty-one heroic Englishmen signed the Mayflower Compact which, according to William Bradford, was to hold in check the restless individuals on board, who had threatened to strike out on their own when they landed. This became America's first venture in self government.

In establishing the Plymouth Colony, these Pilgrim Fathers suffered the hardships of a bitter winter. With food scarce and disease prevalent, nearly half their number died. They soon discovered that their original compact for the common ownership of property and crops was not workable. Several were lazy and seditious and refused to assume their responsibilities, expecting favored treatment, but equal returns. So America's first experiment in socialism failed and was abandoned.

These pioneering Pilgrims then turned to the principles of private ownership and individual effort, as the only hope of immediate survival and ultimate success, to sow the seed of capitalism in the New World.

With a successful corn crop in 1621, Governor Bradford decreed that a day be set aside to express thanks to God for an abundant harvest and His guidance and protection.

As we observe the anniversary of that first Thanksgiving Day, it is well that we do so reverently, and that we rededicate ourselves to the preservation of the American concepts of individual responsibility, character, thrift and self government first established and commemorated at Plymouth by our Pilgrim Fathers.

It's hard to predict what fish are going to do. With another cool and rainy weekend the fish didn't do much of anything. A few specks were caught up Jordan River but nothing to brag about. The waters in the bayous and canals became real muddy and the water in the main river was good enough but was a little bit on the shady side. On talking to those trolling up the river they reported very few specks were caught although a few were caught on dead bait. If the weather straightens out you can look for some real fishing. With a high wind prevailing, small craft was unable to go outside. Thursday being a holiday, many should take to fishing and results will be reported next week.

Yours truly should be in Baton Rouge Thanksgiving and is looking forward to some green trout fishing. In and around Baton Rouge are some good fishing spots.

Bill Witter and Dan Stone of Gulfport's Stone Ice Cream Co. reported catching 49 specks up Rotten Bayou Nov. 12th. Bill resides in New Orleans but is from the Bay. For those who don't know, Rotten Bayou is up Jordan River and can be mighty good for trolling for specks. Bill is also a good hunter.

It was interesting to see Revis Niolet now of Gulfport but originally from DeLisle. Revis was a caddy at the old Pine Hills Golf course 11 years. He used to caddy for yours truly, Bob Genin, Congressman Paul Maloney of La., and Senator Pat Harrison, C. C. McDonald Sr., etc.

It was interesting to reminisce with Revis. He recalled when he received 50c for caddying for 18 holes. The older men remember when Pine Hills course was going full blast. That was back in 1936.

A long but happy time ago. Alex Cunningham was pro at that time and "Dad" Dedaux took over the course after the hotel closed down. Among those from Bay St. Louis who played there were Bob Genin, C. C. McDonald Sr., Oscar Bragg, Bob Mitchell, Albert Hill, Bill Wolf, Walter Gex Jr., Val Yates, Dec Elliott and others. The course is gone and some who played golf at old Pine Hills. One of the most distinguished players was Al Smith who ran for President in those days.

Shrimp are becoming more scarce day by day. For those who have to go to frozen shrimp. Better stock up now.

Frozen shrimp will sell for about 85c per pound. No matter how hard a shrimp may be the fish still go for them.

Seen trolling for specks up the river last week was Cornelius Herlihy of Waveland. He said he caught some in Bayou Caddy last week. Cornelius loves his fishing and goes whenever he can.

Al Ruschel of New Orleans was over Monday and did a little fishing. Al expects some day to own a home here and catch up on his fishing.

The duck season will soon be open. Oiling of guns, repainting of decoys is now in order. Hunting fever is increasing and should be an epidemic when the opening day arrives. According to federal reports there should be plenty of ducks and federal game wardens on hand. Get that duck stamp now!

Alden Mauffray and John Scalfide Jr., were after green trout Sunday. Will let you know how they made out later.

Most shrimpers have gone to oystering. Oysters should be plentiful soon. Raw, stewed, fried, etc., they are mighty good even when dunked in a good old oyster soup.

Mississippi oysters have a wonderful flavor and taste. They can be caught out front in the Bay. Although small, they are always salty and good. A pair of oyster tongs will get them. At 89c a full pint it will pay to own a pair of tongs. What's better than oysters on the half shell. You can buy a sack and open your own.

When the waters clear up after the hard rains of the first part of

COLMER SEES NO ACTION ON 'CIVIL RIGHTS' THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Continued) - Wm. M. Colmer, the Vice Chairman of the House Rules Committee and a member of the Southern Strategy Group, said upon the filing of the Committee's Report and the Minority Report of the Civil Rights Bill by the House Judiciary Committee that he feels confident there will be "No Floor action in the House on the 'Civil Wrongs' Bill this year."

He said he assumed that Chairman Celler would promptly request a hearing before his Rules Committee, seeking clearance for the highly controversial measure to the floor of the House. He noted that Thanksgiving comes this week and that many of the Members would be home for the holiday. He further said that since the present bill was rammed through the House Judiciary Committee at the week, trolling for green trout should be good. Bayous, canals and lakes should be likely places to get them.

LOCAL SPORTSMAN

HENRY LANG

Henry as he is better known to his friends does a little fishing but excels at soft crabbing and floundering, his favorite sport. During these seasons or most any time he can be seen out front with his faithful light picking up soft crabs or sticking flounder. An old timer, he knows his business and is hard to beat, usually getting his share. Little in size, but big at heart his friends enjoy them with him.

the behest of the late President and the Attorney General without consideration by that Committee, he felt the Committee on Rules would want to hear the opponents of the legislative proposal as well as the proponents; that many members would want to be heard in opposition to the measure, including its opponents on the Committee itself who were given no opportunity to consider or even read the bill before it was rammed out of the Committee.

Since the Congress is slated to adjourn for the Christmas holidays on December 20, the veteran Member of the Rules Committee feels that it will be inadvisable, if not impossible, for the Committee to give the consideration which the bill deserves before that date.

The country, as well as the Congress, is entitled to know what is in this most flagrant grasp for power in the history of the Congress; and therefore the bill should be fully explored and exposed in all of its raw power before the Rules Committee, particularly since no opportunity was given to the Members of the House Judiciary Committee or the public to know what was in the bill before it was rammed through that Committee.

The danger here, Colmer said, is that Congress is called upon to legislate by labels. He referred to the fact that the Administration calls the bill a "moderate" one as opposed to the original Subcommittee bill as a "strong" one. The truth is that the bill reported by the Committee under the direction of the Attorney General is a much stronger and more vicious one in its provisions than the so-called "strong bill" to which Attorney General Kennedy objected with tongue in cheek.

The veteran Mississippi Congressman praised highly the Minority Report consisting of some sixty-four pages signed by eight Southern Members of the House Judiciary Committee. No fair minded and unbiased Member of the Congress, he said, could vote for the bill after studying the Minority Report. It is a devastating expose of the Administration's bill, he added. It is authentic and thoroughly documented. He further noted that the authors of the Minority Report had the benefit of the services of the Honorable John Satterfield, a former president of the American Bar Association, in its preparation.

Mr. Colmer quoted from the Minority Report the following summary:

"If the proposed legislation is enacted, the President of the United States and his appointees, particularly the Attorney General, would be granted the power to seriously impair the following civil rights of those who fall within the scope of the various titles of this bill:

1. The right of freedom of speech and freedom of the press concerning 'discrimination or segregation, of any kind' at any establishment or place, as delineated in the bill (Secs. 202-203).

ELECTRIC POWER ASSOCIATIONS AND DRUMSTICKS

Whether your menu calls for turkey or chicken this year, you'll know that it cost less than in years gone by. Each year since World War II, the price of chicken has dropped more than a cent a pound. And any lover of roast hen or fried drumsticks will tell you it's better eating than ever.

What's responsible to this more-for-the-money miracle in Mississippi? One reason is the fast-growing poultry industry which has developed in areas served by Electric Power Associations. Electricity makes possible modern production and processing efficiencies which help make chicken a Sunday treat most Mississippians can afford every day.

Today, push-button electricity lets one or two farm workers tend 30,000 chickens, feed 500 cattle or milk 50 cows.

This lowers food production costs, but every six years the demand for rural electricity is doubled.

Rural Electrification Administration loans which are being repaid in full with interest, enable Electric Power Associations to build heavier lines to supply this growing need for power.

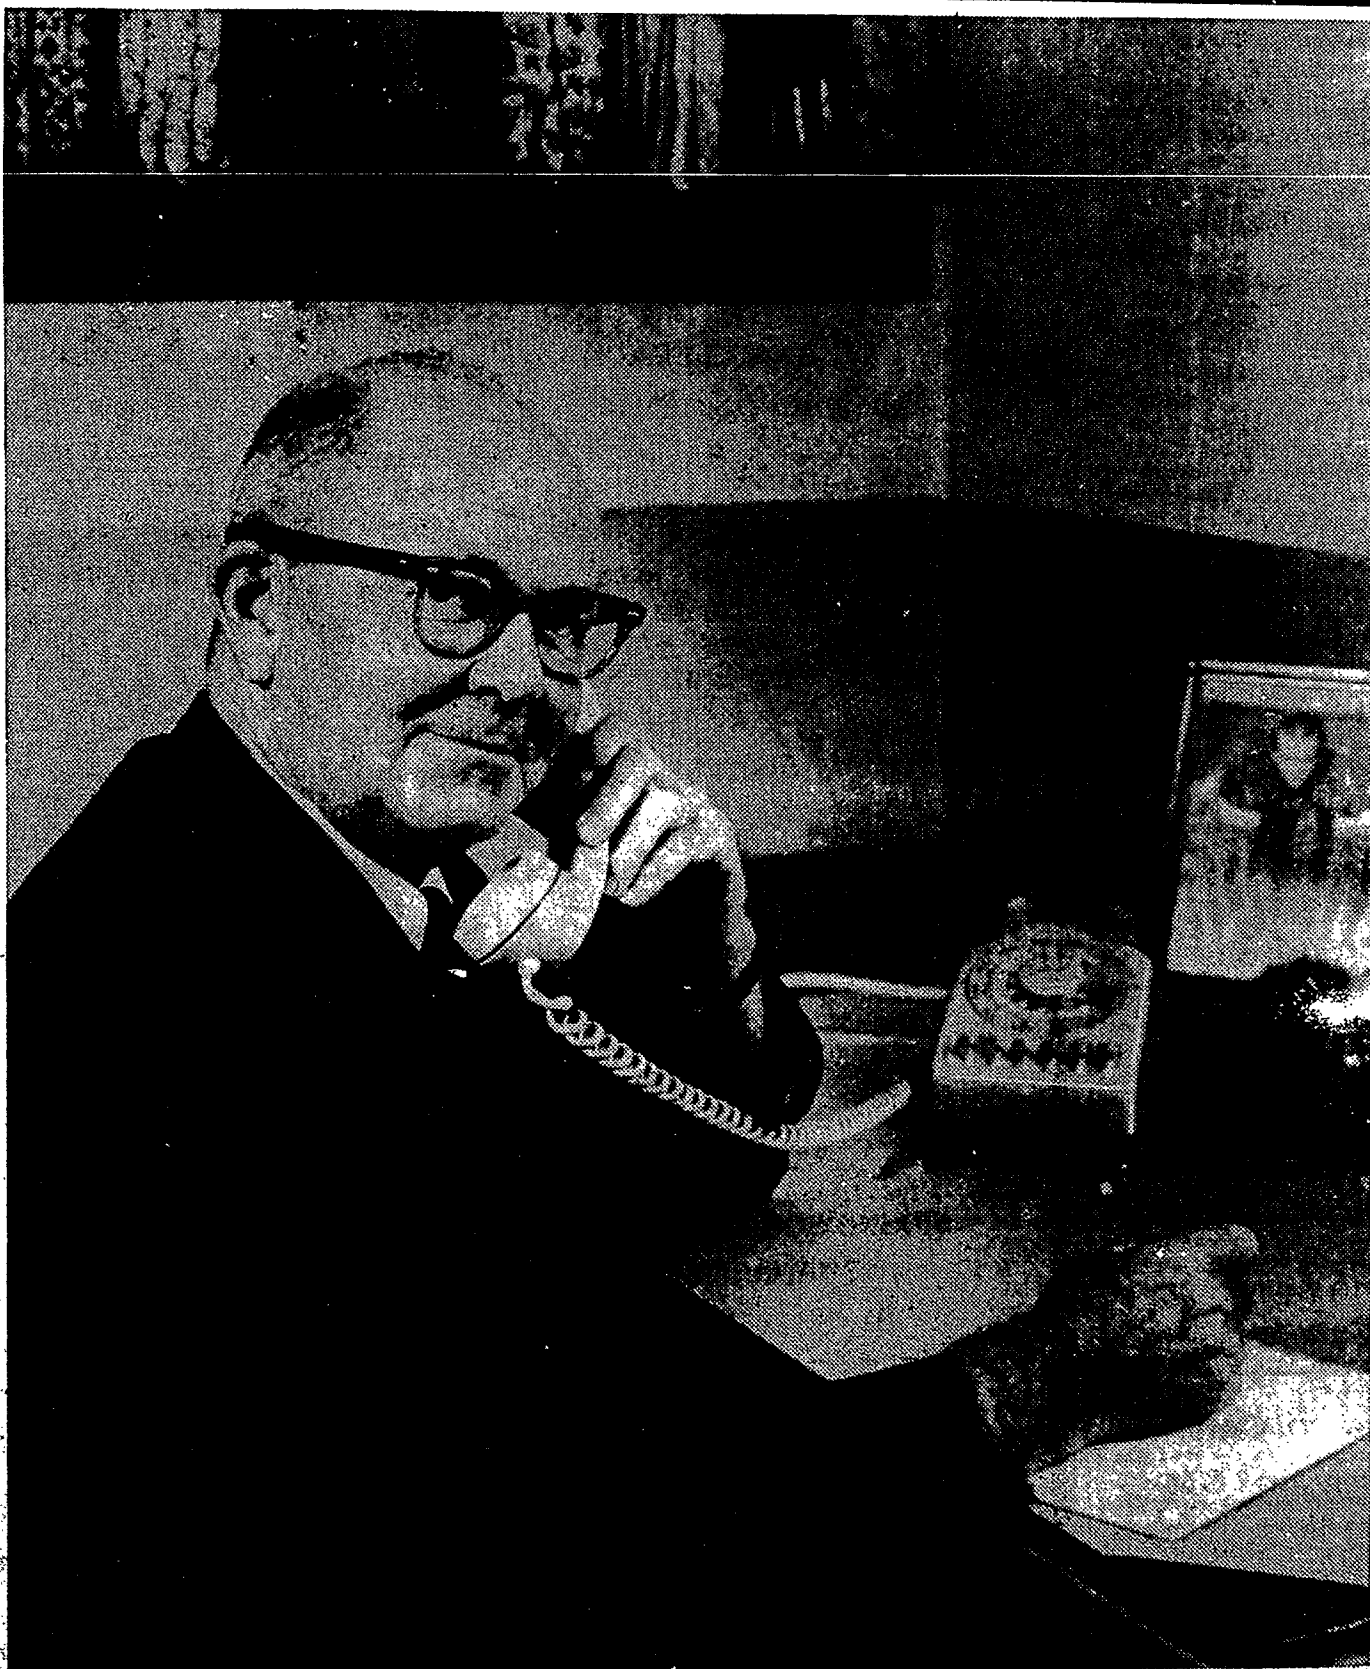

Best of all these loans benefit you whether you live in town or on the farm. Electricity helps farmers produce an abundance of high quality food for everyone. It hikes rural living standards, and improves rural schools and churches. It creates new jobs and opportunities from the production of raw materials, manufacturing, wholesale and retail channels through a multi-billion dollar annual market for electrical products.

So as you pause to give thanks for your many blessings on Thanksgiving Day this year, also give thanks for the Mississippians who pioneered in establishing the Electric Power Association in your area so you, too, might realize the benefits of the economic and social progress which has come as a result of rural electrification.

Enjoy and give thanks for your drumstick—incubated, hatched, fed, processed, refrigerated and cooked electrically.

"My telephone is indispensable in my business and Mississippi Manufacturers Association work," says Ernest Bowton of Philadelphia and current president of the M.M.A. "There is no other communication that is so versatile... long distance, local and interplant calls, all completed in a few minutes. The list of calls during just one week showed a saving of nearly 16 hours in time and 651 miles of driving."

Your telephone probably gave you as much valuable help this week. There may be even more ways you can use your telephone to save time and money in your business, personal or civic activities. Telephones do so much... yet cost so little.

Social Security

As an early bird, the year class of November or December, you may be wondering what to do about your Social Security. The answer is simple: you must file your claim as early as possible. The best time to file is the first time of the year - best time of year - and the best time of day for faster service. The best of service, indeed, is always the aim at the social security office but it's only natural to be busier at times.

During the November and December time the record of your earnings can be gotten more quickly from our main office in Baltimore, Maryland. This too, aids in speeding your claim on its way. The reasons are logical. As a result your money can be waiting for you when due. If some obstacle occurs this usually can be ironed out and your money still mailed to you on time.

Why not be an early bird if you are within 3 months of retirement age. File your claim in November or December and beat the rush. The social security representative for this area is at the Youth

HIGHWAY PATROL LICENSE EXAMINERS BEGIN COURSE

Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol Drivers License Examiners from all over the state will assemble in Jackson Headquarters Monday morning December 2, to begin an intensive five day course of in-service training. The plans for this school were announced by Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong and Chief Drivers License Examiner Bill Sutherland.

"We are presenting a new drivers licensing manual to our men at this school," stated Sutherland. "It is the result of intensive work on the part of our state and the cooperation of the A. A. M. V. A. and other states throughout the country. L. E. Birdsong, Region II Field Representative of the A. A. M. V. A. will be present to assist in the training. Other parts of the training program will be presented by our own instructors and will include active training under field conditions."

Commissioner Birdsong commented, "The in-service training school is another step in the overall program of traffic safety we are implementing. We feel that this training will further our objective of having better, more qualified drivers on the road. In fact, the entire theme of the school is to improve the quality of our drivers. Drivers Licensing is one of the more important aspects of overall traffic safety. We cannot place too much emphasis here. Through the efforts of Chief Examiner Sutherland, A. A. M. V. A. Representative Birdsong and our other instructors we anticipate a highly effective school."

SLIGHT CHANGES LISTED FOR 1964 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

Participation in the feed grain program will be necessary again in 1964 in order to be eligible for price support on 1964 crop corn, grain sorghum, and barley, John W. Haynes, Office Manager of the Hancock Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office, reminds farmers. Minimum acreage diversion under the program will be 20 percent of a farm's total feed grain base (for the three grains). Producer sign up will start February 18, 1964.

The office manager explained that the program for the three grains will be similar to the 1963 program except for these slight modifications:

1. The top limit on diversion is increased from 40 to 50 percent or 25 acres, whichever is greater;
2. In computing diversion and price support payments, the average yield figures will be based on the 4-year (1959-62) average instead of the 2-year (1959-60) average;
3. The feed grain base of any producer who planted up to 30 acres of wheat for home use under the feed grain exemption during any one of the years 1959, 1960, and 1961 will be the same as the extent of the 3-year average of such wheat acreage exceeded 15 acres;
4. While the total price supports for the three grains in 1964 are unchanged from 1963 levels, a slightly larger proportion of the supports will be available as loans or purchases, with corresponding decreases in price support payments;
5. Payments to any producer are limited to not more than 20 percent of the fair market value of any acreage involved; and
6. The maximum payment rate will apply to all the acreage diverted where the total diversion on the farm is 40 percent or more of the base.

Support prices for grains included in the 1964 feed grain program were announced July 18, 1963, as follows: Corn (per bushel), $1.10 loan, 15-cent price support; grain sorghum, $1.25 total support; grain sorghum (per CWT.), $1.77 loan, 23-cent payment, $2 total support; barley (per bushel), $1.42 loan, 12-cent payment, 96-cent total support.

STATE FEATURED IN FOUR-COLOR NATIONAL AD

JACKSON — For the seventh time in four years, Mississippi will be featured in a full-color national advertisement. Three national publications with a combined circulation of more than three million will carry the ad.

Captioned, "It's Vacation Time Now in The Gulf South," the color ad features a photograph of the historic Natchez Trace which is completed from Jackson to Tupelo, and will eventually connect Natchez and Nashville, Tenn.

Once an Indian path, then a wilderness road, the Trace served as a highway from 1800 to 1830 binding the old Southwest to the Union.

Ranking third among U. S. parkways in the volume of traffic it bears, more than 5,000,000 persons used it in 1962.

The United Gas advertisement will appear in the November 24 issue of U. S. News & World Report, in the December 2 issue of Newsweek and in the Wall Street Journal on December 3.

The ad copy goes on to say: "Natchez Trace — Leisurely travelers on the Natchez Trace Parkway pictured here near Jackson, Miss., see early American history brought to life along the 'Old Trace,' a meandering Indian trail, centuries old, from Natchez to Tupelo, Miss., and beyond."

For 24 years, United Gas has advertised the many advantages of the Gulf South, including Mississippi. In the current series, the tourist, as well as industrial advantages of the area, are being featured.

The first Mississippi national ad in the new United Gas series showed historic Biloxi lighthouse on the Gulf Coast, the second was illustrated with a color photo of "Anchuca," ante-bellum Vicksburg mansion, the third pictured the restored Old Capitol, now the Mississippi Historical Museum, at Jackson. The fourth featured the reservoirs and lakes of North Mississippi, the fifth was devoted to the Lauren Rogers Memorial Library and Museum in Laurel and the sixth ad was illustrated with a beautiful photograph of the Old Spanish Fort at Pascagoula.

MONEY BILLS IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON — Appropriations bills move to center stage in Congress this week, with more than $19 billion of the taxpayers' cash involved.

While the Senate and House consider measures to pay for military construction, public works and a variety of government agencies, some interesting side attractions are scheduled in committees.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee resumes its probe of the controversial JETV warplane contract and the Senate Finance Committee takes up a House-passed bill to raise the temporary debt ceiling to $315 billion. Separate House hearings look into the recent trip to Cuba by U. S. students, medical care for the elderly and the government's vast research programs.

On Tuesday's House docket was $4,276,116,400 measure to foot the bill for federal public works programs. Neither measure has been acted on by the Senate.

Scheduled for consideration in the Senate this week are House-passed bills to appropriate some $14 billion for more than a score of independent government agencies, the District of Columbia government and Congress. The sudden spurt of appropriations activity is part of a drive to clear the decks of all money bills in the hope that Congress might be able to adjourn before Christmas.

That hope was brightened when it became apparent that the Senate would not act this year on a House-passed major tax bill and that the House itself might not act on the administration's civil rights measure.

FORESTRY NOTES

Four men have recently been arrested and charged with deliberately setting forest fires, according to State Forester Jack Holman.

Three of the arrests were made in Wayne County, where some 50 sets were made over a six-day period. Those charged waived preliminary hearings and bond was set at $2,000 on each of three counts. Assisting in the investigation that led to the arrests were W. N. Powell and Duff D. Austin of the Mississippi Forestry Commission. According to Austin the Wayne County Circuit Court will convene in January, when these cases are expected to be called.

The other arrest was made in Jones County where the accused is free under $750 bond awaiting action. The investigation leading to this arrest was made by Jim Allman and Austin of the Forestry Commission.

In commenting on this action Holman emphasized that it is a felony to maliciously set fire to woods belonging to another. He stated that these fires have been especially dangerous and destructive this fall because of the drought conditions.

"A number of woods fires over the State have burned pastures, crops, barns, farm equipment and even homes before being brought under control," he said.

Holman called on all citizens to cooperate with local authorities and Commission employees in bringing to a halt the deliberate and malicious burning of our natural resources.

Mississippi fields and woodlands, which have been critically dry for the past three months have had some temporary relief afforded by local showers, according to State Forester Jack Holman.

He went on to explain that the light local rains have not been sufficient to ease the situation materially. In addition, most of the state has experienced one or more heavy frosts which have made more fuel available to burn.

Holman stated that with the opening of deer season this month, thousands of additional people will be in the woods creating a greater fire hazard.

In speaking of deer hunters Holman said, "The Forestry Commission has had wonderful cooperation from the hunters regarding woods fires."

this week, I wish to extend to each and everyone a very happy and thankful Thanksgiving. Although our country has suffered a great loss due to the death of our President, John F. Kennedy, we must not give up our freedom to worship and thank God for his many blessings, and I am sure that our new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, will help to preserve this great right of the American People.

Once again, Happy Thanksgiving to everyone.

RICE QUOTA POLLING PLACES ANNOUNCED

Polling places for the growers' referendum December 10 on marketing quotas for the 1964 rice crop were announced today by Paul E. Bounds, Chairman of the Hancock Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. The location throughout Hancock County is the Hancock ASCS County Office, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Chairman Bounds reminds farmers that marketing quotas will continue in effect for the 1964 rice crop only if at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve quotas in the December 10, referendum.

If quotas are approved, growers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotments for rice will be eligible for the full national average price support, and they will be able to market their entire crop free of penalty. Growers who exceed their farm acreage allotments for rice will be subject to a marketing quota penalty of 65 percent of parity on their excess production, and none of their rice crop will be eligible for price support.

If marketing quotas are approved in the December 10 referendum, there will be no restrictions on rice marketing, but acreage allotments will remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support at 50 percent of parity. (Roughly, this would be around $3.20 per hundredweight if the August parity price continues at about the current level.)

Any person - as landlord, tenant, or sharecropper - who was engaged in the production of rice in 1963 is eligible to vote in the December 10 referendum.
